“Attending the USA Games means a lot to me. I get to show my pride in my state, represent Kansas, and show how much I have grown in certain areas!”

Taylor says that his dream job would be anything working with food, sports, weather, stats, or electronic gaming.

Special Olympics has been the main reason Taylor has been motivated to be active and want more out of life. His social ability, team work, and ability to be coached have also improved.

Taylor is proud of being on the honor roll throughout the majority of his school years.
